“A-List” Update #6

Part Two of Two

“The possibility exists for the elevation of a portion of humans, while embodied, to a higher state of awareness. These ‘humans-made-new’ would have a greater measure of true free-will and a more direct connection to the higher Light that exists outside of this zone. The soul being may become free to stay or leave and the human self may incorporate a portion of higher being and awareness into its own self. The soul beings who are here will also be receiving the correction energies and be ‘made new’. ...Now it is time for all those for whom possible to go ‘online’, first some, then more, as if growing in waves.”

Dear Readers,

Here is Part Two of Two of this that begins a new ‘chapter’ on the ascension of human selves and that of the soul beings that have been here to help, observe, and learn.

Future updates will continue to be irregular and I will be posting short items at NES Forums from time to time. Most of the articles that we have written and presented in Global Awakening News represent a process of development leading to what is now being presenting. The material is generally not available from other sources.

This current update connects closely with what we published three years ago in two articles in the Aug-Sept 2007 issue of Global Awakening News on “A New Creation” (article link: <http://www.pfcn.net/Bulletins/GA%20Aug-Sept%202007%20edition%20-%20New%20Creation.pdf>) and “A New Earth” (article link: <http://www.pfcn.net/Bulletins/GA%20Aug-Sept%202007%20edition-New%20Earth.pdf>).

In October of 2007, we attempted to describe what we could of the transformation and ascension process as it was understood at the time. Many test runs were made and many variations in the process tried. Many impediments and interferences were encountered.

Additional articles have mused about possibilities for a change to the earth’s orbital trajectory and the influences of the new creation (“baby”) on what is going on here, in this reality and Earth (see December 2009 GA:News).

While there are many of good intention who are exposing the existence or influence of high level powers-that-be who are operating in the human sphere of existence, it is my sense that most of this is “too little, too late”, if it ever would have mattered much. The more these things are publicized that are accurate and insightful enough, the more it is an indication that “the game” is nearly over and that the human powers-that-be are no longer concerned enough to control such the news. They only seek to control that which could prematurely expose more about them and their most important plans --or that could cause them additional trouble in maintaining social control.

All the major global players “at the table” know the stakes and the game. It is a type of musical chairs and they all know that when the music stops, some will no longer have a seat at the table. The other game is “who blinks first”. The immediate stakes are for control over Earth and humans. Nearly all preparations for a new stage of war that will mark the beginning of WW3 are in place, what remains is the pretext and timing. Any day, any week.

It is most likely that in many countries (USA included), there will be many confused, disgusted, and angry humans carrying pitch forks and torches who will pursue anything and anyone they IMAGINE to be their enemy. It is already a confused and troubling time and will get very worse very quickly. Those humans who get caught up in these events do not know what they are fighting against, nor do they know what they are fighting for. The situation has for the most part been successfully steered and guided by the powers-that-be through various meme-engineering methods of social control.

I have little more to say on all this except to remind everyone here to stay attentive to the larger and higher spiritual changes and to not be drawn into the insanity of the earthly struggles, including those of confused and angry populaces. Over the years we have provided information and insight and pointed out ways to better understand the macro and micro patterns in the human sphere of thoughts and actions.

Whatever the human powers-that-be do now, it will be largely upon their own agenda and momentum, allied with certain ET-types, and encouraged by demonic and other forms of the non-physical dark forces. To repeat what was said above, they have practically zero concern from their part about carrying along a population of 6.7 billion people. Since there is only a concern for social order that could interfere with their plans, they will use a combination of engineered global emergencies, new wars, overt WW3, disease pandemics, environmental catastrophes (poisonous Gulf of Mexico + big hurricane), more widespread use of weather and tectonic weapons, and of course martial law where it is deemed essential. They are counting on people to self-manage their own triage as much as possible, hence the emphasis will be on perceived global threats.

There is the possibility that global catastrophic wreckage will be avoided and it will be from a spiritual solution coming from outside this system. The correction energies are here and are in-process. How this plays out is a mystery as of this writing.

These days I am more focused on the question of the human self and the soul/higher self and how social-spiritual evolution can more favor the interests of the and higher level dark forces diminished or extinguished.

That is what is on the table now, when all the messy confusion is cleared away: the human self and the soul/higher self. To one side is the divine spark/higher creational awareness. An overlapping, trinary relationship

Later I will be writing a few articles concerning the work of a few spiritual pioneers and continue to offer some descriptions of the corrections and the ascension process. My main interest now is with changes to the human self and the soul self. This is what is fundamental to the ascension of humanity and the soul beings to a new stage of evolution. Everything else seems secondary or background noise.

The possibility exists for the elevation of a portion of humans, while embodied, to a higher state of awareness. These ‘humans-made-new’ would have a greater measure of true free-will and a more direct connection to the higher Light that exists outside of this zone. The soul being may become free to stay or leave and the human self may incorporate a portion of higher being and awareness into its own self. The soul beings who are here will also be receiving the correction energies and be ‘made new’.

CORRECTION: In the previous update, the last sentence of the first page/first sentence of second page was corrupted during the PDF conversion. Here is how it should have read: “The confluence of different global crises are overwhelmingly staggering while a dam of silence and misdirection holds back what will soon become a “tsunami of events” –before end of 2010.” (The downloadable PDF has also been corrected.)

CLARIFICATION: While it appeared as though there was a “new management” entity for Earth, it may be more like that of a new, higher, or upgraded aspect of the main entity that has been overseeing Earth. It was so different that it seemed like an entirely new being coming in.

GLOBAL AWAKENING NEWS IN PRINT AND DIGITAL FORMATS

Global Awakening News CD-ROM or print version is in preparation for September. We are compiling most of the GA:News articles, trimming out the general front and end material, notices, etc. and will be making them available on CD-ROM and in high-quality digital color, three-hole punched on 24lb high quality white paper. We do not know the final print page length, but it is estimated to be several hundred pages and a reasonable cost will be calculated. We also have a modest stock of good quality three-hole notebooks in white vinyl. E-mail info@pfcn.net if you are interested in either of these options.

A Creation Made New

Toward a New Earth

By Alex Kochkin

Preface

John’s article in Part One of this update (www.pfcn.net/bulletins/update-aug01-2010.pdf) may well be describing the preliminary stages to something dramatic. May be.

In reexamining the present situation and recent changes, it might appear until most recently that “the mission” has failed with regard to implementing the reconnection with Source, while embodied, of those beings trapped here.

Yet, when all is said and done, it may be seen by all involved to have been worth it, even if no being with any memory of what came before will ever want to go through this again.

There has been the ongoing desire to bring along as much of embodied humanity as possible, partly to retain as much of the diverse learning and evolutionary development, etc. that has occurred here. However this may not be feasible for many, especially given the deep inroad of imprinting by the dark upon all those who have been under their domain.

There is the potential for those humans who have been most influenced by the correction energies, to move to a partially ascended level of awareness while embodied. If successful, this has remarkable implications in affecting many more.

What remains is the rescue of those who will need rescue and for the rest to vacate the 3d/4d dimension to their higher levels of being while alterations are made to physical 3d levels in preparation for a new evolutionary leap. This rescue may involve certain new “ET” interests, including some that will be taking “their own” home. Efforts will need to be made to minimize subterfuge and “illicit” abductions by those ET’s that have been working on the dark side.

In addition there remains the problem of the permanent elimination of the dark and their agents as well as their permanent exclusion from humans and earth. If there is a way to accelerate the evolutionary impulse on behalf of the original intent behind humans and earth, then that would be given priority within the above contexts. Such a possibility may exist but in the context of extreme measures.

What has been learned and is now known by those beings that have made it this far will be retained.

The question here is how to best effect the uplifting of the greatest number of beings to the next levels up and to facilitate the conclusion of the darkness that has been cultivated in the 3d/4d realm.

Situation

The dark and their agents have been initiating various ways to severely damage the earth and humanity while taking whatever they can while it is still possible. Their “scorched earth” threat also involves their re-emerging in control. This is also reflected in the plans of the human powers-that-be, including escalating a covert WW3 to overtly involve much of humanity. All indications are that this open escalation is likely to begin before the end of 2010. However, it is not certain these plans will fully manifest, even such events do take hold initially. At the very least, earth changes may preempt some of the worst of human-wrought destruction.

On behalf of Creator there is a counterpart impulse, that being the removal and rescue of all beings that require it. The deletion of the physical plane of existence on this planet may also be required. This may involve our local sun in the process.

Those beings in materially stressful human situations cannot hold out indefinitely based upon “trusting the process” since “the process” has so far failed to achieve the intended results in a significant way. Yet many are still holding their places and are thus preventing the dark from moving in --simply by their engagement through their human presences. But every day is a war of attrition that compromises many in various ways, even those ‘at the front lines’ who are more spiritually aware, cannot maintain their positions indefinitely, not under the circumstances that are developing in 3d.

New assurances of new versions of new energies, etc., quite understandably will be met by growing incredulity or skepticism –unless there is a tangible and unambiguous change in some. Meanwhile, various new false hopes and falsehoods are being spun to keep as many engaged and stuck in this trap.

Recently I noted linkage between the new age grounding of the dark side from roughly a century ago to recent “upstarts”. Articulate presentations are coming forth by various persons who are either telling the light workers to leave in ways that would allow the dark side to literally walk-in –or to acknowledge the dominance of the dark and accept all manner of false hopes.

Higher beings upon higher beings were sent or volunteered –embodied or not –to help in freeing those trapped here and to help remove the dark forces. Overall it has been shown they not enough has been learned of this intractable situation and too many of these beings fought well, but too often were ‘played the fool’ by a sophisticated set of deceptions.

Now it is time for all those for whom possible to go ‘online’, first some, then more, as if growing in waves.

A Central Problem

Many years ago, one of various courses taken to assess and correct the situation was for some beings to come here to live and evaluate how humanity could be brought into the light and reclaimed and upgraded. For the most part they persevered, even when harboring serious doubts as to the possibilities of success.

Twice in recent years I recall examining the dark side workings in the “as above” and the “as below”. The purpose was to take a final pass at my own understanding of the brilliant and terrible control system and see if there could be some way to disengage the control process.

At this time, there is nothing left to examine in that regard, only this: the human ego-personality self, the soul being, and the divine awareness/spark of Creator.

In general, the soul beings as a whole are understandably reticent and ill-prepared to receive and integrate their human level awarenesses, partly due the concern that the human level awareness carries with it the seeds of the dark and therefore the dark creation paradigm.

Despite the divine origins of the human template, humans on earth and their operating systems were fashioned by the dark to serve the dark. Through all this, the spark of Creator is still available. This is demonstrated partly through a portion of recorded near-death-experiences and partly from inner seeing and experiential learning.

The primary responsibility for the inability of most humans to connect to their higher levels rests mainly with the greater soul being. A secondary responsibility for the failure to achieve this link up rests with the damaged human ego-personality self. The situation is quite understandable and there is no “fault”, only with those who created and controlled the situation.

From what I am aware of, I certainly cannot blame humanity for what has occurred here. ‘Freewill’ was heavily suppressed and distorted and humanity was walled off in various ways to be exploited by the dark.

From my perspectives, any spiritual teacher who claims that the situation here is the fault of humanity or that the dark was a perverse teaching tool by Creator is fundamentally corrupt or worse.

This damage to the human ego-personality self has been such that I do not see any way to effect the ascension of the bulk of human based awareness --while still embodied --from their human vehicles.

The “correction energies” that we are aware of have could be considered part of the “never again department” of Creator. It is still the greatest hope that when this cleaning and correcting process is complete, it will be as if the Dark never existed. Ever.

Options

A “quarantine” and transition zone is needed for all who leave the physical. It would be equipped with various “correction energy-based” clearing and upgrading processes, much as described in the earlier articles on transformation and ascension. Yet even with these considerations, there is the problem of the dark forces re-initializing via some type of trojan-virus like mechanism. The newly arrived human-focused awareness brings with it too much of the dark.

A planetary environment similar to earth’s could be found and a lengthy rehabilitation process could be initiated. I have no reason to expect there is sufficient transport capacity available for so many human bodies. Thus it would primarily be a new incarnation. However most host worlds would likely not want to accept so many humans from this world, given the difficulties of a quarantine and possible future integration into their worlds. Too many safeguards would be needed to prevent new generations of the dark germinating in their new host environment, etc. and so far this is less and fool-proof. Such a process has been done elsewhere and most failed.

Another process that has been used in extreme problem areas has been to remove the physical environment and re-start new inhabitants, or to delete the 3d vibration range entirely. Many of these also failed when agents for the dark infiltrated from outside those worlds and the infection would take hold and spread again.

An Alternative

There might be a unique variation to the planetary clearing and reset processes.

There are those here –embodied and otherwise –who are willing to defy the dark threat and maintain their presence on this planet while it undergoes a major restructuring. Those embodied might not have a physical body when all is said and done. But these beings include some of the most spiritually aware as well as some who have been somehow touched by the new creation core (“Baby”) before it went on its way. What was transferred encompassed more than the “correction energies”, there were also processes for patterning a new creation with an innate incompatibility with the dark.

One way of imaging this would be consider this planet brought into a plasma-like state. Practically, there would be no more 3-d. Furthermore, any attempts by the dark to infiltrate would result in their annihilation based on the influx of new energies.

The result could be a new creation center within the larger creation, one that was inoculated against the dark and that could participate in a new way in the development of new creator beings and possibly facilitate the clearing and upgrading of all creation, not just this fallen sector.

This could wind up achieving the original intention for this planet and for the human expression in form.

Those beings that remain with this process may find themselves as allies or stewards of a new earth and much more. A new earth and a new humanity. A new level of physicality may eventually be developed as well.

For this to work, it is essential there be tangible and manifest supportive connection from Creation and the involvement of new planetary ‘upper management’.

What would occur with all the individuated awarenesses that identified themselves as human, I have no idea. Perhaps many “go home”, whatever that may mean, and others reintegrated into Creation, healed and upgraded. Some may simply cease to be as individuations and some portion of their learning may be absorbed by the larger soul being.

Perhaps this is would then be the time to remove Earth from the control environment of this planetary system and embark on a new trajectory and a new role with its new residents.

To my knowing, this “alternative” scenario has not occurred before.

Planetary Environment

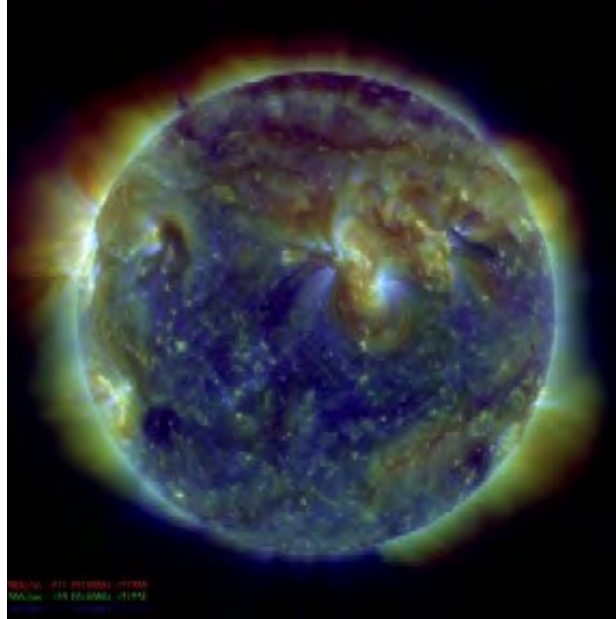

The earlier earthquake prediction should not be considered over and done until this weekend. As we have come to expect over the years, explosive large solar emissions that are earth-directed trigger large earthquakes, initially within one to three days following the solar pressure effects upon the Earth’s atmosphere.

Space and Earth

Second CME/geomagnetic storm has subsided. Headaches, thick or foggy headedness, spatial disorientation, changes in visual field or acuity, etc. are examples of reported symptoms. Several moderate to strong earthquakes were triggered.
